A few children may have slipped in by hiding in the stands or on the grounds before the games, but it is nothing serious states Mr. McFarlen. Both Mr. McFarlen and Mr. Wheeler admit that not all who attended the game paid as they entered. This is because of the passes, season tickets, and Student Body tickets that many

Passes are given to newspaper reporters, school board members, coaches, and to students who work on the field before the games. Each player is given two complementary tickets. There are over thirty season tickets out this semester, and about six hundred Student Body tickets.

Mr. McFarlen states that at the football game held Saturday, October 8, about one hundred Student Body tickets were held by students from Meninas in the "Y" hut Friday, Oc- San Bernardino. |Tatlers Discuss Plans For Visit To Aged Scripts

Plans to visit the exhibit of Elizabethan books and manuscripts at the Huntington Library were discussed at a meeting of the Tavern Tatlers last Tuesday evening in the jaycee library.

It was urged that the visit to the widely publicised exhibition be made as soon as possible as the collection will remain open to the public only in accordance with the amount of interest shown. Although the major portion of the display deals with literature and drama in the Elizabethan days, it is strictly speaking, a representation of all the Tudor period from Henry VIII through the times of Edward VI, "Bloody Mary" and up to the death of Elizabeth.

A change in the Constitution of the club was also proposed which will alter the requirement from one quarter to one month membership in the junior college, the reasons given being that as the institution is only a two year college, the time available for participation in clubs is limited, and at the same time the new member's high school literary record is considered as sufficient recommendation for

New members proposed for the club were Ray Archer, William Blanchard, Robert DeuPree, Leonard Fields, Harold Ditmer, Ruth Jenkins, Caroline Mueller, Beatrice Rankin, and Jean Rockwell. They will be voted on at the next meeting. The remainder of the meeting was devoted to discussions on current literature and the summer readings of the members.

Mr. Nealely agrees, however that there should be more social relationship between sexes in co-educational institutions. This, believes Mr. Nealley, is entirely different and infinitely better than following Mr. Steinmet's advice to flirt until one gets love" while in school.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Use Your Education

"There is a host of people who cannot do much of anything with education after they get it. The query arises, of what good is education to such people? No good at all, and they should not have it.

"Grover Cleveland once said that education is something which should be used and not merely put on for ornament. There is a world of sense in that statement. Few people understand that education is for what they can get out of it in the way of use, and not what it may give them in the way of reputation or prestige.

"The time is coming-indeed it is here right now-when nothing but results will count. It makes no difference how much a person knows, it is the use he makes of knowledge. Ability without action gets us nowhere. It is certainly bad that any person should have ability and not use it for the benefit of his fellows.

"It is not necessary to say further that the person who acquires an education for his selfish and individual benefit has no true conception of brotherhood, nor what constitutes good ethics; nor has he an understanding of the elements of religious

Depression And The Younger Generation

Many feel that we of the younger generation have not felt the effects of the depression. "You are young, you have your whole future before you," is the common adult expression.

All this is true, we do have our futures before us, and no doubt "Dad" has kept his worries from us. But-we know that many have been deprived of the opportunity to get an education, at just the age when it is most necessary. Many young people have been forced to do such work that would serve to destroy their life-long ambitions. Others have even been unable to marry and make homes, this has made moral standards difficult to live up to. These are only a few of the obstacles that the young people have had to overcome.

We of the younger generation know thers is a depression; we have felt the effects; we resent the fact that our elders do not recognize that we too have gone through many hardships. Let us go forward; let us show the world that young people can solve successfully these present day problems, and come to the top better men and women because of hard-fought battles

Advantages In Junior College

"Two years of jaycee and then off to a real college", was the gist of a remark heard upon the campus the other day.

Let us hope that there are no more students who feel this way about junior college, but if there are a mistaken few who possess this sentiment they will undoubtedly change their minds if they will stop to realize what jaycee is doing for them.

In junior college we have all the advantages of a four year institution with a minimum expense. The subjects are the same as those offered in a four year college, the instruction is better, in a sense, because more time is devoted to the individual student and we have excellent social and sports advantages. Then compare the insignificant expenses of jaycee with those of a four year college.

If the mud throwers will make this comparison they will realize how lucky they are to be in junior college. Any school needs and deserves the support of all its students. Let's boost Santa Ana jaycee one hundred per cent.

Be An Optimist

BE AN OPTIMIST! There's a bright side to everything a ray in every cloud of depression. When grades are so low that they start at zero and continue downwards, when your best friend dates out the only girl in the world and you're so broke that a penny looks like a cartwheel, just buck up and use the old grimace that we term a smile. Don't think how down and out you are, but reflect that you could have been lower. Roll up your sleeves and climb back up the highway to success

When we laugh and take it on the chin the multitude stays behind us, but if we weaken and turn back, we go alone.

DO YOU KNOW

How that cylindrical, wooden instrument, or pencil you are carying in either your handbag or pocket-depending on whether you wear skirts or trousers-was first made? Since it is we unfortunate students who suffer most from this well-known object's existence, it somehow doesn't seem logical that the inventor should be one of our order-and of the so-called weaker sex at that. But, neverthe less, it is true. An inventive school girl of Danvers, Massachusetts, evidently tired of having to wash graphite from her hands after each bit of writing, for she wanted something better. Taking a piece of graphite, she crushed it with a hammer, mixed it with gum, and stuffed the mixture in a hollow alder twig. Proving successful, this experiment was followed by many improvements, until now the manufacture of lead pencils is a highly specialized business-all due to the efforts of a school girl.

How the sandwich originated? Like everything else, even sandwiches had a beginning; and like Fords they were named after their originator. The Earl of Sandwich, father of this popular "meal-in-itself", was not a culinary expert-nay! not even a mediocre cook. He was a gambler. So that he could eat without leaving the gambling table, the Earl formed the habit of putting a piece of meat between two slices of bread. How many words are there in the Dons, however, but to a few high it's two hours. That's relativity!" English language? Some years ago a great scholar gave the number as 38, few conducted themselves with such 000; but Professor Max Muller, the greatest authorty of his time on words, put the total at 100,000. Including words having fixed places in the dialects of the country and those spoken in earlier times, there are probably around 300,000. Perhaps adding most to the size of the dictionary is the growth of new industries: for example; 4,000 new words were necessary for use in relation to electricity and electrical appliances.

BOOK NOTE

Louis Bromfield's "Green B Tree" is a novel of tremendous em tions. It deals with the youngen ge eration as viewed through the eyes the older generation in the person the motor, Julia Shand. Stern and domitable of will, Julia finds that the younger generation have wills a live by their ideals. It is interesting to compare the characters of the tw daughters with that of the father John Shand, and that of the mother

Living in a region of mills an factories where most of the worke are foreigners, Irene, the younge sister, fills her living hours wi charity and giving aid to the igno ant immigrants who are slaving o their time in the machinery of th mills. Lily, the elder and very love At the opening of the second half sister is entirely different. She spur a marriage with the Governor of th kick, hoisted anchor, steamed thru the state and moves to Paris where s gives birth to a child, son of the Go ernor. She becomes even lovelier as more admirable after that. She h the art of listening to a person though drinking in the words. S is known as the wealthy widow from America, but is invited everywhere and has scores of nfluental frend Julia Shane, the mother of these ty so different daughters, sits back wonderment and watches the ty

One suffers and sympathizes w Irene, the charity worker and a mires and thrills with Lily. Not eve Lily's relations will blame her f her fault, she is entirely lovable as admirable. One feels every now as then a pang of resentment and pit for Irene, who, as Bromfield make one see it, is missing out on the ri and lovely things of life, which Li is getting so effortlessly.

The story reaches a deeper note t tells of the human emotions of the town people during the strike at th simple people are twisted, and o is impressed by the huge sacrific Patient: Yes, sir. I consumed six made by Irene as she gives herse to the benefit of the foreigners.

The story can appeal only to people who have a deep sense of the dr matic. One must really appreciat such a lovely picture of character. s highly recommendable to anyone

Santa Ana Dons Face One Of Conference's Most Versatile Outfits

Facing their strongest opposition to date, the Santa Ana Dons are to go through a week of extensive practice in preparation for their forth coming tussle with Pomona jaycee whom they meet for the first time this coming Saturday at the Santa Ana home field. The Cossack team is coached by that "Handy Andy" of the Pomona coaching staff, Van Cleve, who also coaches basketball, and track. By virtue of their 12 to 6 victory over Riverside, Pomona now rates as a possible Orange empire championship team. Coach Cook wishes to impress both his team and the student body of the importance of the next conference

The Santa Ana coach was greatly impressed by the fight and power er's men will win, but you can never which Pomona showed in coming from behind to beat Riverside in the last half. The Pomona line is big and tough and in Keough, Van Cleve possesses a triple-threat quarterback, He is a brother of Zeke Keough, who starred for Chaffey J. C. several years ago. Mansfield, Pomona's plunging fulback is to be compared with Jim Musick or Elmer Schwartz, well known "power house" players of the Pacific coast, and may cause the light Don line considerable trouble.

Although the Dons are up against tough opposition Coach Cook is shedding no tears over his chances. Santa Ana possesses a vast amount of power itself and if the team shows the same fight and spirit of teamwork which it exhibited against the Gobs from the U. S. S. Saratoga last Saturday he believes the Dons will emerge victorious this coming Saturday.

The starting lineup is not definite, but will probably include Brooks and Harris at ends, Conkey and Heffner at tackles, Capt. Metal Shop Busy On Wrought Iron Making wrought iron furniture is the latest activity which the metal shop has entered into, according to Instructor Quivey. This type of furniture is made in only one other place in Southern California. This unusual furniture is quite exclusive and very expensive, states Mr. Quivey. A chair which costs $20 can be made in the tion trips. school shops for approximately two dollars and fifty cents.

There are two chairs under construction now, and a table and settee will be started on soon which will complete the set. These first pieces are more or less experimental; if they turn out well there will undoubtedly be other students interested enough in this new activity to carry it on.

After four months work the metal shop has finished the high diving platform which is to be turned over to the athletic department before the end of the week. The platform has been made by students working in the welding department. It was started by jaycee students, but was finishished by some high school classes. The platform is built on the same dimensions as the official diving platform used in all swimming meets.
